THE UNIVERSITY

Chartered in 1983, the Aga Khan University (AKU) is an international private university that currently operates in South and Central Asia, East Africa and the United Kingdom.

AKU occupies a pivotal place in the Aga Khan Development Network, a group of development agencies working under the leadership of His Highness the Aga Khan, and contributes in major ways to social development. AKU prioritises higher education and research initiatives relevant to the problems of the societies in which it operates, generally in the developing world.

Through on-going partnerships with prestigious institutions worldwide, AKU brings international expertise to bear upon the establishment and enhancement of its current and future programmes and services. With a growing programme offering, in addition to our existing six campuses spread over three continents, we are planning three new faculties and six graduate schools to deliver a range of educational choices in an environment that respects cultural diversity.

Our merit-based, transparent admissions process and need-sensitive financial assistance programme attempts to ensure that a diversity of high calibre students are able to attend the programmes at AKU.

SCHOOL OF NURSING AND MIDWIFERY

Aga Khan University School of Nursing and Midwifery was established in 1980, three years prior to the establishment of the University. It became the first operational academic unit of Aga Khan University and the first School of Nursing and Midwifery in the country to be affiliated with a university.

The School of Nursing and Midwifery has also accomplished many other firsts in Pakistan. It was the first to start a two-year Post Registered Nurse Bachelor of Science in Nursing (Post-RN BScN) programme for diploma qualified nurses in 1988, the first to start a four-year Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BScN) in 1997, and the first to begin a Master of Science in Nursing (MScN) programme in 2001. In 2012, it was the first to start a Post RM Bachelor of Science in Midwifery (Post-RM BScM) and in 2014, the first to begin a PhD in Nursing in Pakistan.

The University's Founder and Chancellor, His Highness Prince Karim Aga Khan, provides the vision for School of Nursing and Midwifery, which in his word is "to raise the standard and standing of the profession itself, so that it is accorded the recognition and prestige earned and deserved by the women whose working lives are dedicated to the demanding and honourable task of caring for the sick."

The School of Nursing and Midwifery aspires towards becoming a centre of excellence in the region, providing the highest level of education, promoting and disseminating knowledge and technology, and providing education, research and service with particular relevance to the development of Pakistan, developing nations and the Muslim Ummah. Following the University's international mandate, the School of Nursing and Midwifery is currently working towards improving the access to and quality of nursing education initiatives in Pakistan, Kenya, Uganda, Tanzania and Afghanistan.

In order to meet its goal to achieve the highest international quality, the School of Nursing and Midwifery has forged mutually beneficial and long-term partnerships with important universities such as the Universities of Alberta, Calgary, and Washington. In collaboration with its partners, the School of Nursing and Midwifery has been able to provide unique higher education opportunities to prepare its faculty members for distinguished careers in academics, opportunities for joint research, and access to international expertise in developing innovative curricula and evidence-based pedagogies.

The School combines the talents of national and international faculty with educational and professional experiences from Pakistan, Africa and North America. Faculty expertise in clinical practice, education, management and research enriches nursing education of students across all programmes. Aga Khan University School of Nursing and Midwifery motivates young men and women from all over Pakistan, and overseas, to choose nursing as a career in order to strengthen the delivery of healthcare services. In the process, these young individuals are encouraged to play a more meaningful role in their nation's development, and advancement for women, which is in harmony with the traditions of Islamic society.

Aga Khan University School of Nursing and Midwifery offers the following undergraduate programmes:

- Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BScN)
- Post RN Bachelor of Science in Nursing (Post-RN BScN)
- Post RN Bachelor of Science in Midwifery (Post-RM BScM)

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAMMES AT SONAM

I. Bachelor of Science in Nursing (BScN) Degree Programme

This is a four-year academic programme and an additional one-year mandatory internship. At the conclusion of five years, students become eligible to apply for the PNC licensure examination and receive the license as a Registered Nurse.

This programme equips students with knowledge, skills and attitude needed to practice nursing. It is designed to prepare clinically competent professional nurses. Upon completion of the programme, nurses are able to utilise critical thinking in providing holistic nursing care and play a role as change agents in nursing practice and education in any health care setting.

II. Bachelor of Science in Nursing (Post-RN BScN) Degree Programme

The Post RN-BScN programme is a two-year programme designed to give experienced registered nurses an opportunity to acquire in-depth knowledge and skills needed to practice nursing care as clinically competent professional nurses. Graduates will be able to provide leadership and influence the development of the nursing profession in Pakistan. Upon completion of the programme, nurses are able to utilise critical thinking in providing holistic nursing care and play a role as change agents in nursing practice and education in any health care setting. Both full time and part time study options are available.

III. Bachelor of Science in Midwifery (Post-RM BScM) Degree Programme

The Post-RM BScM programme will prepare its graduates to provide comprehensive, evidence-based midwifery care essentially to healthy women throughout pregnancy, childbirth, postpartum care, neonatal care and family planning.

The comprehensive educational standards developed by the International Confederation of Midwives (ICM) provide the guiding framework for the programme. The curriculum has been designed with the objective of producing clinically competent graduates and clinical leaders who meet the knowledge, skills and standards set out at national and international levels and also to respond to the socio-cultural, ethical and the legal frameworks in the country.

The programme spread over two years comprises four semesters, 18 weeks each of full-time study. The programme comprises midwifery and related courses offering in a unique blend of face-to-face and distance-learning approaches for theory and practice.

The programme is offered every alternate year. 2020 is the year of offering.

ADMISSION TO THE SCHOOL OF NURSING AND MIDWIFERY

Under its charter, AKU is open to all academically qualified candidates without consideration to gender, religion, race, creed, colour or domicile. Students from anywhere in Pakistan and overseas may apply. There are no quotas, reserved seats or admissions against donations. Merit-based admissions are open to candidates from around the world.

Admission to the Aga Khan University School of Nursing and Midwifery (AKU-SONAM) is based on merit and potential for leadership. Merit will be assessed by several criteria including scholastic achievements, performance on an admission test and panel interviews, productive use of time and other experiences indicating potential for leadership. There are no reserved seats. There are no admissions against donations. Students from anywhere in Pakistan and overseas may apply. There are no international/geographical/regional quotas. The gender ratio for admission to the BScN, Post RN-BScN and the Post RM-BScM programmes will be in accordance with the regulations of the Pakistan Nursing Council (PNC).

Fulfilment of basic eligibility requirements or a high academic score in any single discipline or any other outstanding achievement alone will not be sufficient for selection. Selection to the AKU-SONAM is made with great care and concern. Its decisions are irrevocable and are not negotiable.

Experience over the years has shown that competition for admission is intense. Candidates are advised in their own interest to apply to other institutions as well. A deliberate effort is made to select students from diverse economic and educational backgrounds. This is done in the belief that diversity in the student body greatly enriches the educational experience.

As English is the medium of instruction at AKU, candidates must be able to demonstrate competence in English comprehension and expression, both written and verbal.

It is in the best interest of students, particularly from overseas, to have a working knowledge of Urdu. The University would also make necessary arrangements for acculturation and strengthening of language skills through coaching, where possible.

WHO CAN APPLY?

Candidates in Pakistan or overseas, who have successfully completed or are completing their HSSC/graduate/postgraduate education by the summer of 2020 and meet the eligibility criteria for the relevant programme as indicated in this brochure may apply.

PROVISIONAL APPLICATIONS

The Aga Khan University will accept provisional applications from candidates who will be writing their Higher Secondary School Certificate (HSSC) examination/graduation/postgraduate examination until the summer of 2020. All such applications will be evaluated for admission on a provisional basis. In cases where provisional admission is granted, applicants will be required to submit their (pending) HSSC examination or their graduation/postgraduate examination results in accordance with the minimum eligibility requirements by the dates specified in this University brochure. If the HSSC/graduate/postgraduate examination result of a provisionally admitted candidate is less than the minimum eligibility requirement and is not submitted within the due dates, the admission offer made by University will stand cancelled.

It is the candidate's responsibility to ensure that pending results are received in the Admission Office according to the published schedule. Reminders will not be sent from the Admission Office.

REPEAT APPLICATIONS

Applicants not successful in their first attempt may apply again with additional information supporting their application. A candidate's most recent formal academic qualification will be used for evaluation purposes.

A fresh application together with necessary documentation must be submitted for a particular admission session. The University does not have a policy of automatically carrying forward applications from one session to the next.
