

SPONSORED CARDIAC SURGERY FELLOWSHIP POSITIONS

We are Building the Future of Cardiac Care in East Africa

Aga Khan University is a private, not for profit, international University established in 1983, with 11 teaching sites in eight countries. Since 2001, AKU has offered academic programmes in nursing, medicine and education for East Africa.

The Aga Khan University, Department of Surgery, invites applications for two sponsored international fellowship positions in cardiac surgery. Successful candidates will be fully sponsored for 3-5 years to complete a cardiac surgery fellowship programme at one of our international partner universities. On completion you will join faculty as part of a full service regional cardiac sciences programme integrating clinical cardiology, interventional cardiac services, and cardiac surgery within a Faculty of Health Sciences committed to excellence in clinical care, education and research.

Applicants must have a Masters of Surgery or equivalent and have satisfactorily completed one year of Instructorship and been registered as specialist with the Kenya Medical Practitioners and Dentist Board.

Interested candidates are requested to send the following application materials: a cover letter describing your interests, a detailed curriculum vitae, academic transcripts, the name of three referees, with contact information (telephone number and e-mail address) to Chair, Department of Surgery, Aga Khan University, P.O. Box 30270 - 00100, Nairobi via Email: hr.recruitment@aku.edu so as to reach no later than 15th December, 2017
