QTL_net ‘Walks the Talk’, by Dr Tashmin Khamis, Associate Vice Provost (QTL) (3 min read)

The Network of Quality, Teaching and Learning (QTL_net) walks the talk by becoming the first non-academic department at AKU to self-initiate a unit review. By bringing in experts in the field of educational development as external reviewers, the review saw more than a 100 stakeholders reflect on their experiences with the QTL_net, leading to fascinating insights on the impact QTL_net has made in its short 5 years and how to better support faculty development and quality enhancement at AKU. See the results for yourself in the article linked. Read More...

Evidencing Teaching and Learning in Higher Education: 3rd Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Conference, a Monumental Success (2 min read)

477 participants came together in Karachi and virtually across AKU for the 3rd biennial Scholarship of Teaching and Learning Conference (SoTLC). Centered around the theme of “Evidencing Teaching and Learning in Higher Education,” faculty, staff, and students engaged in the rigorous exchange of ideas with their peers as well as international experts. It was also a time to recognize AKU’s achievements in teaching and learning as well, with several important celebrations. While we wait for the next SoTLC be sure to catch up on the details in the full article.

Celebrating Teachers Recognised for Excellence by their Students:
What makes them stand out and what can we learn for our own teaching? (3 min read)

Becoming a good teacher is not an easy journey, especially in higher education where many faculty members come in with little to no teaching experience. Yet, many rise above these challenges and become excellent teachers, and three AKU Karachi faculty members were recognized for their efforts as recipients of the student-nominated best teacher award. We sat down to learn about their journey, insights, and advice. Find out what they had to say in the full article. Read More...
