

CENTER FOR CLINICAL BEST PRACTICES TEAM ALUMNI

Dr Sarah Nadeem

Director, CITRIC- Center for Clinical Best Practices

Dr Sarah Nadeem is a Director CCBP, Assistant Professor Endocrinologist at the Aga Khan University Hospital. She completed her Endocrinology, Diabetes and Metabolism fellowship training at the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, MN and practiced in US prior to moving to Pakistan in 2018. She is an experienced clinician, researcher and teacher.

Bushra Ayub

Senior Research Assistant, CITRIC-Center for Clinical Best Practices

Bushra has done Masters's with a gold medalist in statistics. She has several national and international publications in world-renowned journals in multiple specialties. She has also presented her research at international and national conferences. Currently, she is working as a Research Specialist in a tertiary care hospital.

Salima Salim Aamdani

Research Associate, CITRIC-Center for Clinical Best Practices

Salima completed her BScN from Aga Khan University in 2014 and later did MSc in Health Policy and Management from Aga Khan University. She was the part of CCBP core team and contributed to GRADE guidelines development. She also had an extensive experience in clinical research focusing on cardiovascular disease and stroke research

Dr Russell Seth Martins

Research Consultant, CITRIC- Center for Clinical Best Practices

Ms. Russell Seth Martins, a dedicated researcher and visionary, delves into the realms of science and technology with passion graduated from the Aga Khan University MBBS class of 2021. He contributed to CCBP team by Summarizing best-practice guidelines for publication and presentation and preparing grant applications. He is currently working as a postdoctoral research fellow at Hackensack Meridian Health, New Jersey

Dr. Syeda Amrah Hashmi

Research Consultant, CITRIC- Center for Clinical Best Practices

Syeda Amrah Hashmi graduated from the Aga Khan University MBBS class of 2021. After completing her internship, she joined the CCBP team and contributed to research papers as a research consultant. Her primary interest is in neurology which she plans in pursuing as her residency.